

Dear Jones College Prep Families,

I'm reaching out to you today with a heart full of hope and determination. Our Flying Eagles Annual Fund is more than just a fundraising campaign—it is the lifeblood of our school, directly powering the rich academics, arts, athletics, clubs, and community programs that make Jones an extraordinary place for our wonderful students to learn, grow, and soar.

As you may know, Jones faces unique funding challenges. We receive less district and federal funding than nearly every other selective enrollment high school in Chicago. Recent budget cuts have taken away $60,000 in vital support that once kept doors open later for theater, robotics, chess, sports, and so much more. Now, more than ever, it falls to our community—our Eagle family—to make sure these opportunities remain alive and thriving.

Together, let's fill this gap. Every gift ensures that our students continue to have access to vibrant programs that nurture their minds, bodies, and spirits. When we invest in Jones, we're investing in every Eagle's potential and future success.

Since launching last week, we have raised $17,175, a meaningful start, but still far from our bold goal of $300,000. I invite every family to join this collective effort. Your participation sends a powerful message: that we believe in our school, in our mission, and in the limitless potential of our Eagles!

Through the generosity and dedication of Friends of Jones and our entire community, we support meaningful programming and events that enrich our students' experience and help develop the whole student.

Please consider making a gift today—let's soar to new heights together!

Warmly,
Principal Dolan
